Tie With Italy, Germany Sought By Chamberlain

Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

There's Room for Dictators in Europe, He Says

LONDON. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain asked the house of commons today to approve early enforcement of the Anglo-Italian accord of April 16 and made a bid for economic peace with Germany in southeastern Europe.

At the same time he formally announced Sir John Anderson, 56-year-old "Iron Man of Bengal" and new lord privy seal, also would be minister for civilian defense, taking charge of both air raid precautions and arrangements for a "national voluntary service."

ROOM FOR BOTH

The prime minister first called for debate tomorrow on his proposal to seal the Easter pact with Premier Mussolini "as soon as possible."

Then replying to opposition attacks on consequences of the peace of Munich he insisted "there is room both for Germany and us in trading with southeastern Europe."

Outlining Sir John's new functions, he reiterated his opposition to peacetime conscription of the nation's manpower for defense, declaring "there will be no compulsion." The government is satisfied that it is desirable and practicable to meet the needs of civilian defense by voluntary action suitably guided and organized."

NO BAR TO NAZIS

Chamberlain said he had decided against establishment of a ministry of supply to speed rearmament because it would dislocate industry unnecessarily. He also asserted Britain was not planning to equip her army on a continental scale.

Of Germany's drive to the southeast he said:

"We have no desire to block Germany from this country or that or to encircle her economically. It is true we have certain trade."

'LITTLE BEAR'S PILOTS CHANGE

LANCASTER. (AP)—After a hazardous third change of pilots, the light plane, "Little Bear," dived on today in quest of the world's all-plane refueling endurance flight record.

The flight started at 1:25 p.m. Oct. 23, nine days ago, over Rosamond Dry Lake, near here.

Climbing a rope ladder in stiff winds and a near dust storm, Clyde Schleifer replaced Harley Long in the cockpit this morning.

The original crew of Schleifer and Thomas H. Smith, Clarksburg, W. Va., planned to fly until Thursday, when Long will replace Smith for the second time. The man leaving the plane parachutes to the ground.

Please do not ask me how to vote on the 25 amendments. When I do not know myself, how can I tell you? But I can tell you what I think of those legislators who sent the amendments back to us.

Well, it won't be long now before the Santa Anita race track gives you another opportunity to lose your money.

Thanksgiving this year is also for orange growers, if they have a shirt left.

Of one thing I am certain, I have no secret fund or any other kind of a fund, and I'm not running for office. Rather I am running from office. Every campaign some one tries to convince me that I could be elected to a public office. So far I haven't fallen for that sort of flattery.

The orange market is at least improving by comparison. Last week it lost only two cents a packed box as compared with 20 cents the preceding week. And then there is the fellow who wishes I would quit talking about oranges as it isn't good reading. And it never occurred to him the ramifications are not good, either.

Anyway, I am glad that he has found an opportunity to express himself through typewriter keys, supplemented by a newspaper. He has adult symptoms. I'll watch for his productions with interest.

UTILITIES' NEW DEAL SEEN AS AID TO NATION

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Clarence E. Groesbeck, chairman of the Electric Bond and Share corporation, said after a White House conference today the "rapprochement between the government and the utilities is most heartening and its implications are of far-reaching national significance."

Groesbeck, talking with reporters after his half hour conference with President Roosevelt, added:

"We need only recall the negotiations between the national defense power committee and the utilities, culminated at the meeting here last Friday, to realize that mutual understanding and cooperation has advanced beyond the theoretical stage."

The successful outcome of those negotiations should point the way to working out a satisfactory understanding with government of the other problems of the industry."

Groesbeck referred to the agreement last week whereby the private power concerns, with federal financial assistance, will proceed with a $2,000,000,000 expansion program to fit in with new national defense plans.

Coin's Flip Costs Truckman's Life From Motor Fumes

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A flip of a coin cost Kenneth Dickinson, 26, his life today.

Halted by a heavy fog, Dickinson and Gerald Lee halted their truck in a vacant lot to await daylight. There was room for only one to sleep in the cab, and they tossed a coin for the seat. Dickinson lost and retired to the empty trailer.

When the fog lifted Lee found Dickinson dead. Coroner Ernest Hein said exhaust fumes had entered the trailer, but not the cab, when Lee started the motor during the night to provide heat.

Actor Asks Tax Slash For $3500 False Teeth

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The movie's best known sourpuss, Ned Sparks, told the Federal Board of Tax Appeals today that false teeth were the tools of his trade and that he paid $3500 for a special set that eliminated his when he used the letter "S."

"I bought two sets," Dead Pan Ned told Judge Ernest Van Fossan, "just in case something happened to one. By buying these teeth I was able to earn $172,000 as a movie actor. If I did not have them I might not have been able to make $10."

Sparks is asking a reduction of $8187.77 in his income tax bills from 1934 to 1936. He claims this amount was spent for entertainment, tips, automobile expenses and such necessities as the false teeth.

Sparks, who has yet to smile for the cameras, was glummer than ever as he told Judge Van Fossan about his trip to England where he was paid $6000 a month to stimulate the facial expression of an owl.

"That London climate nearly killed me," Ned explained in that raspy voice. "They don't know what heat is. By buying these teeth I was able to earn $172,000 as a movie actor. If I did not have them I might not have been able to make $10."

"Better a broken jade (semiprecious stone highly valued in China) rather than a whole tile," Chiang concluded.

"China's main base for military resistance does not lie in the coast or river regions," he said, "but in the vast hinterland, especially the western provinces. This has been our fundamental strategy in planning prolonged resistance."

Evidence In Pamphlet Case 'Lost'

Receipt Signed by McKelvey Missing From Court; L. A. Men Testify

Disappearance of a key piece of state's evidence threw new mystery today in the "Fools Rush In" case, entering its third day of preliminary examination in justice court.

Mysteriously missing when court recessed late yesterday, the state's exhibit had not been found at noon today. It was a receipt card for a Los Angeles grand jury transcript, signed Aug. 9 by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey, now a defendant with five other men in the criminal conspiracy "pamphlet" case.

The card had been used yesterday afternoon by Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner, prosecuting, and by McKelvey in examination of Will Nash, clerk in the Los Angeles' district attorney's office from which McKelvey borrowed the transcript—later photostated and the photostatic copy used in preparation of the second pamphlet.

McKelvey said he did not know where the exhibit was, and Turner said he had not seen it. Court Clerk Ralph Gordon, Justice Chris Pann and attorneys searched for the receipt, but it still was missing today.

L. A. MEN TESTIFY

Witnesses yesterday afternoon included John L. Harris, Los Angeles' document expert who completed testimony he began in the morning; Nash, and Lieut. M. D. Williams of the Los Angeles police department. This morning Williams was recalled; and Joel Ogle, Santa Ana attorney, and Ted Masterson of Anaheim were the state's witnesses. Masterson was on the stand at noon recess.

Ogle's testimony about conversations with J. Malcolm Green, publisher of a political tabloid weekly, was temporarily blocked by Green's counsel on grounds Ogle had been retained by Green for incorporation work. W. Maxwell Burke and Charles A. McGinnis, Green's attorneys, claimed any conversations between the two were privileged because of the attorney-client relation.

SIMILARITY NOTED

Judge Pann will rule on the matter later, after Turner presents authorities.

Harris testified yesterday afternoon that he had noted a similarity between the "Fools Rush In" pamphlet and Green's Santa Ana Bee, since many words and expressions were enclosed by quotations.

The generalissimo, China's military and civil leader, was believed to be near the front west of Hankow, captured by the Japanese a week ago.

The problem arose Friday when Germany started deporting thousands of Polish Jews before a new Polish law went into effect requiring the re-validation of passports for Poles living abroad.

Nash testified that copies of the transcript McKelvey borrowed are "never released to anyone without a receipt."

Harris' statement that the transcript could have been photostated in "an hour or two" was attacked on cross-examination by McKelvey, who denies that he had a copy made. On cross-examination by Charles Ott, co-defendant, Harris said he had not found the typewriter on which manuscripts for the two pamphlets were prepared.

Nash testified that copies of the transcript McKelvey borrowed are "never released to anyone without a receipt."

WELFARE DEPT. ADDS 2 CLERKS

Two more clerks were authorized for the county welfare department today, on request of Director Thomas P. Douglas, who explained his department was doing intensive investigation work on applications for renewal of aid.

Douglas appeared before the board of supervisors, explaining that each year authorization for relief must be renewed. His office, he said, has been able to effect some savings through investigation of relief recipients who may have other sources of income, thereby making it possible for the county to deduct relief payments.

The new clerks will be paid $100 and $90 a month, respectively.

Endurance Pilots Switched

It was "catch as catch can" when this little monoplane switched pilots as it droned over Rosamond Dry Lakes near Lancaster, Calif., during an endurance refueling flight. With the old record of 136 hours, 10 minutes already bettered, Thomas H. Smith of Clarksburg, W. pamphlets," the Los Angeles officer said. "He said he paid the money in large bills."

Williams said Taylor had tentatively identified one of the men who came to the Atlas Distributing company to order distribution of the leaflets as "Slim Gordon," the identification being made from a Los Angeles sheriff's office photograph. Later Williams said the taxi driver who brought the men there gave a widely varying description.

MASTERTON CALLED

"You say you're not legally bound to divulge what you learned about Green," said McElvane. "Aren't you ethically bound?"

"I'll take care of the ethics," replied Ogle.

Masterson was called just before noon, and testified to conversations with Taylor similar to those of Lieutenant Williams. He said Taylor described the man who ordered distribution of the pamphlets as about 50 years of age, wearing brown striped trousers and sport shoes.

MASTERTON DWINDBLES

Masterson said he went to Los Angeles on the investigation with George Holden, candidate for district attorney; Fris, and H. H. Kohlberger.

The crowd in the little courtroom had dwindled today, with the usual group of witnesses barred from the courtroom—gathered in the jury room.

The county grand jury, each member under subpoena as a witness, held its first meeting today since Ott, Green and McElvane were arrested, a week ago yesterday.

WHO'S THIS BIRD THAT'S MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING?" asked Ott. "Why wasn't this Whitman arrested?"

"There wasn't a warrant out for him before he disappeared," replied Lieutenant Williams.

"Well," said Ott, "we'd like to see him—you get him how are things up in Los Angeles now?"

"Let's confine ourselves to the job before us," interposed Judge Pann.

Ogle, called to the stand by Turner, said he first met the defendant Green just before the filing date for the primary election, when Green came into Ogle's office asking the attorney's signature on nomination papers for Republican central committeeman.

INDICTMENT OF MRS. BARNETT TO BE SOUGHT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—U. S. District Attorney General Harrison said today that he will seek a grand jury indictment of Mrs. Anna Laura Barnett and her daughter, Maxine Sturgis, on charges of resisting federal officers when they removed them Sunday from the Wilshire boulevard mansion built by the wealthy Indian and government ward, Jackson Barnett.

The indictment, Harrison said, would supersede federal charges of resisting, filed yesterday, on which the two women were arraigned and held on $1000 bail in the county jail.

The charges against them include "forcibly resisting, interfering and intimidating federal officers with the use of . . . a hatchet."

Mrs. Barnett, in commissioner's court, broke into reading of the complaint to say:

"It's not true—it's not true at all. It's ridiculous. I had a hatchet, all right, but I was going down to fix the front gate when the officers came pouring into my house."

Mrs. Sturgis, daughter of Mrs. Barnett by a former marriage, added:

"I didn't resist, I came down stairs willingly."

Once Mrs. Barnett was asked by Commissioner David B. Head if friends could not raise the money for their release.

"Friends," she cried scornfully, "I have no friends. Those ladies you talk about wanting to help me—they're just a bunch of old hags. They're just trying to cash in on me."

Mrs. Barnett's marriage to the eccentric Indian who made a fortune in Oklahoma oil was annulled a few weeks before his death in 1934. The government has ruled that the home is to go to Indian service.

"Don't let us suppose there must be economic warfare between ourselves and Germany. There may be some competition, but competition is a thing we have thrived on in the past and it is not in our interest to see any part of the world remain poor."

NO ARMS RACE

The prime minister said amid cheers "there is nothing further from my mind than entry upon a new armaments race."

"I repeat categorically," he asserted, "that we have no aggressive intentions against Germany or any other country. As to the suggestion that our armaments are inconsistent with peaceful intentions, I do not know why any different standards should be applied to this country in that respect than to other countries."

That was interpreted as an answer to German and Italian expressions of suspicion that Britain agreed to the Munich peace only to gain time to arm for a punitive war.

CAN WORK TOGETHER

Chamberlain concluded: "It is our firm determination that there shall be no sitting still and waiting for peace to come."

"We shall never get far unless we can accustom ourselves to the idea that democratic and totalitarian powers can work together in a constructive program to facilitate the interchange of goods and to improve relations for the good of all."

Chamberlain said he would offer a motion for debate tomorrow to the effect "this house welcomes the intention of his majesty's government to bring the Anglo-Italian agreement into force."

PACT WITH ITALY

The prime minister spoke to the house as it assembled for a four-day session expected to be devoted largely to debate on the government's rearmament, civilian defense and foreign policies.

The Anglo-Italian pact, signed at Rome the day before Easter, has been held in abeyance because of failure to achieve a "settlement" in connection with the Spanish civil war.

The Rome accord was designed to provide a comprehensive settlement of all conflicts of British and Italian interests in the Mediterranean, Africa, the Near East and Spain. It provided for British recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia and for complete Italian withdrawal from Spain after the civil war and Italy's assurances she had no territorial or political aims in Spain.

WILL THE GAMBLERS "MUSCLE IN" ON ORANGE COUNTY?

BY SHERIFF LOGAN JACKSON

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I suppose that there should be great rejoicing in the ranks of public decency today because Jess Elliott, my opponent in this campaign, has come over to us. It seems that we are now unanimous. Both of us are now in accord with the people of Orange County. We are both against the gamblers.

It may seem to some of you that Mr. Elliott's conversion has been a trifle delayed. This campaign has been going on for three months, and for three months I have been reminding you that the fight against gambling is not new, and not altogether my fight. I have faced it for years and fought it for years, but until last Wednesday, Jess Elliott had not by any word or sign indicated or admitted that there is such a thing as a gambling problem in Orange County.

It is a great victory to have him admit it. He has admitted it grudgingly and sneakingly, and as a minor consideration among the many problems of the county, but he has admitted it.

Now, I think, folks, that I have kept working on Mr. Elliott and if you keep working on Mr. Elliott, that we can get him to come all the way over to our side and really acknowledge that public decency is really one of the big issues in this campaign, and that no man can be honest with the people of Orange County unless he does admit it, and unless he takes a firm and vigorous stand against gambling and gamblers.

And in admitting it, he takes me to task for introducing the name of Mr. Floyd Howard, the indicted chief of police of Santa Ana, into this campaign. He is very tender toward his friend, Mr. Howard. He denies, as I asked him to deny, that he intends to appoint Howard as one of his assistants. I believe him, as I said I would believe him.

But I believe also, ladies and gentlemen, that by asking the question publicly, I forced Mr. Elliott to make a decision and to publicly announce it. When asked by a special group two weeks ago, his answer was, "I am not yet elected sheriff." Why did he not squarely and fairly then and there answer as he answered Wednesday? Did he have to have time to think it over?

Mr. Elliott says I am unkink in bringing Mr. Howard into this campaign. I did not bring him in. He came in himself on the side of Jess Elliott, and for reasons which I do not believe are wholesome. I am merely making known the fact that Howard is in this campaign, and that he is for Elliott, and I am making it known because I believe the people should know it. And I am right.

I have not accused Mr. Howard of any crime. A federal grand jury accused him. I have not convicted him of any crime. But I believe a man so accused should have the good taste to retire as chief of police of Santa Ana, while he is under a cloud, and that he should have the good taste to stay out of the campaign for sheriff.

When a man is under indictment on a lottery charge, I think it is a fair assumption that the federal grand jury found evidence on which to indict him. I would not want a man in such a position supporting me and when, along with Howard, we find such people as Foust, the slot machine king, and Barron and Gil, and this other big shot dog track man supporting Elliott, what are we to think?

I Just Found Out
About Orange
County
By BOB SWANSON

Feet

If you care to count them, there are 135,000,000 pairs of feet in the United States and Canada, and every pair brings its share of bother to its owner.

The fact may not be so startling in itself, but local orthopedic experts point out that 80 per cent of the population of these two counties suffer from some type of foot ailment.

Experts point out that ailments affecting the feet are numerous and complex, including corns, callouses, bunions, neuritis, neuralgia as some of the most common.

One such orthopedic expert, Earl D. Blackburn, says many people suffer, or believe they do, from arthritis and rheumatism. He says many of these cases are due to improper foot balance and distortion.

Due to pressure on sensitive nerve centers in the feet, pain is reflected or felt in parts of the body far remote from the feet; for instance, backache, headache, eye strain, knee pains and leg and pelvic discomforts, Blackburn says.

Improper shoes, wrong size, too weak shank, too high heel and other causes tend to throw the center line of the body weight out of balance and cause nerve pressure and distorted posture, he points out.

"The average housewife takes 18,000 steps a day, averaging seven or eight miles. Assuming she weighs 138 pounds, she would carry 1300 tons of weight in the bones and tissues of her feet for the day. The bones, ligaments and muscles of the feet must support and transport this weight."

One-fourth, or 52, of the bones of the body are in the feet, Blackburn says. All of these bones are small, with the exception of the heel bone. Consequently if the proper shoes are not worn to support and properly balance the feet, the feet creep forward or elongate, throwing undue pressure on nerves, arteries and veins, he declares.

This results, he says, in pains and symptoms throughout the body.

For the past 14 years Blackburn has been fitting shoes according to prescription—just as a pharmacist would fill out a prescription of medicine for a physician.

Foot-suffering patients come to his shop with recommendations from their doctor or chiropractor to specially designed footwear aimed to correct their ailments. Foot sufferers from two Orange county clinics and from one Long Beach clinic, as well as from private doctors, come to have their shoes adjusted or new ones built according to specifications.

Adjusting shoes or building new ones by prescription calls for long training and study. If you have flat feet, the center of the shoe is built up. If the center line of your body weight is out of balance, maybe the outside of the sole needs building up.

Orthopedic experts sometimes use cement to build up the sole of a shoe, or may slice the sole at the edge and insert a leather wedge. The slightest variation, it is claimed, will make a tremendous difference in effect on the bones and nerves of the foot.

Too high heels will cause the arch of the foot to contract, or buckle up. In the other extreme, the arch will virtually collapse, causing flat feet.

It would be fine, Blackburn admits, if people could go barefoot—but that's just a little impracticable in this age, especially with all the hard sidewalks. On a sandy beach on an actual Mother Earth, barefeet are okay, he says, but if everyone took to walking barefooted on the sidewalk, there wouldn't be a normal foot left.

Of all the foot sufferers, women are by far the most numerous. Blackburn says his personal experience would show that 70 per cent of the sufferers are women—chiefly for the reason that they wear shoes too small for their feet and which have too high heels.

Men, with their prosaic, low-heeled shoes, are usually more safe from serious ailments, he says, although a badly fitted shoe can transform a good, healthy foot into a mighty weak one in a short while.

Blackburn says he could design a shoe that would break down the strongest foot in town in a relatively short time.

"It's refreshing to note," he points out, "that the majority of people are becoming foot conscious and insist upon correct fitting. Mothers are watching and seeing that their children's feet are properly fitted to the correct footwear. They are realizing that proper care of the feet may prevent much untold agony and trouble in the future."

Newport Improvement Bond Issue Overwhelmingly Defeated

MASTER PLAN LOSES WITH 779-490 VOTE

NEWPORT.—BALBOA.—A master plan for city-wide improvement was overwhelmingly defeated in a special election here yesterday, and a bond issue to finance the program met a similar fate.

Vote on the first proposition, the master plan, totaled 1,269, with 779 "no" votes being cast and 490 "yes" votes. On the second proposition on the ballot, the issuance of $335,000 worth of bonds to finance the program, there were 789 "no" votes and 479 "yes" votes.

The improvement projects would have included construction of a new city hall, improvement to Newport pier, ocean front parking facilities at Balboa, improved water and sewer system, added fire protection to Balboa island, and a civic center at Corona del Mar.

The plan was evolved by a committee of 50 business and civic leaders and approved by the city council and the city planning commission.

Total cost of the projects would have been $550,000.

4 H. B. BOYS ARRESTED IN STORE LOOTING

Four Huntington Beach youths were booked at the Orange county jail yesterday afternoon, charged with robbing a liquor store at the beach city of $27.

Arrested by Huntington Beach police were two juveniles, both 17; Albert M. Witbeck, 18, a laborer, of Hawaiian Gardens, and George D. Lowry, 19-year-old Buena Park truck driver.

Police said they robbed Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Green, operators of a Huntington Beach liquor store, but were captured almost in the act by officers patrolling the street.

Witbeck pretended he had a gun in his pocket as they robbed the store, according to police reports.

The attempted holdup failed, it was reported, when officers noticed a car in front of the store with the motor running. As they started to question two boys in the rear seat, they reported, Witbeck and Lowry came running toward them.

The youths were bundled into the police car to be taken to the station for questioning, and a moment later a notice was received over the police radio station that the store had been robbed, according to officers.

McDaniels and Flints Are Hosts to Wonderland Fete

With whoops and hollers two-score members of "the younger married set" crawled through the "rabbit hutches" into the Wonderland where the Calvin Flint home had been transformed into last night, and joyously participated in as delicious an evening as ever Alice's imagination concocted.

The two hostesses, Mrs. Flint and Mrs. Charles McDaniel, were garbed as the "red queen" and "white queen" respectively, and the hosts were attired as their knaves. When the last guest had arrived and the hors d'oeuvre hour was past, all were ushered into the dining room, which had been completely transformed into a huge rabbit-hutch. All sheathed and carpeted in white, it was banked with pillows, and here the group crouched and sat to be served dinner. En route, the characters participated in a grand march, and with Mr. and Mrs. C. Mortimer Plum, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. I. F. Landis and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chandler enlisted as judges, concurred in awarding the costume prizes to Mrs. Newell Vandermast, adorable as the white rabbit, and John Scripps, wiggled and tight-clad, as the carpenter's boy.

After dinner cards were matched for a scavenger hunt, whenupon the neighborhood on Heliotrope drive was ransacked for various articles to comply with the requirements stressed in the quotations presented each team.

At the close of the affair, first prizes went to Robert Guild, Mrs. Richard Winckler, James Adams, and Miss Mildred Spicer. The booby prize went to Mrs. Robert Guild and Chester Horton. The Dressed as a little colored boy, Donald Hiner won the prize for the most original one, and many other games and contests added to the evening's pleasure.

Hallowe'en decorations and refreshments had been arranged, and those attending were Bobbie Baker, Alvin Berry, Robert Ritter, Donald Clark, Nelson Farney, Howard Farney, Dean Harwood, William Harwood, Ralph Doran, Donald Hiner, Bruce Clem, George Barr, and Melvin and Norman Willis.

SURPRISE IS HELD FOR CELEBRANT

Since Sunday was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Roda Ramone, a group of intimate friends dropped by her home at 222 South Parton street in the afternoon for a dinner party.

The guests arranged for a dinner to be served all unknown to the honoree, and she was presented with many lovely gifts and flowers.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Spencer of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Glen of Southgate, Mrs. Elizabeth Byrnes, Miss Geraldine Nielson, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ramsey of Compton, Miss Edith Conley of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Beulah Brightwell, Mr. and Mrs. W. Conklin, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hess and son Grady.

3 DAIRYMEN OF COUNTY TO AID BETTER DRIVE

Three Orange county dairymen have been named on a committee directing a nation-wide drive to reduce a record-breaking surplus of butter.

Nels Latrup, chairman of the California Milk Producers' Stabilization committee, announced that 37,000 retail stores have pledged full support of the drive.

The campaign, he said, will be directed toward the moving of butter in consumer channels in an effort to decrease the stock on hand, which amounted to 210,000,000 pounds Oct. 1—75,000,000 pounds more than the five-year average and an all-time high for butter surpluses.

Serving with Latrup on the committee is a group including J. J. Denni of Anaheim, William McOmie of Los Alamitos, and E. A. Wakeham of Garden Grove.

Funeral of Mate Heard by Phone

WOMAN'S CLUB SECTION MEETS FOR DISCUSSION

Twenty-two members of the Woman's club of Santa Ana and guests assembled at the home of Mrs. William Kuhn, 526 North Artesia street, for a covered-dish luncheon to precede the meeting of the Bible Literature Study section Monday.

Carrying out the theme of the fall season, Mrs. Kuhn centered the large dining table, at which the majority of the guests were served, with an artistic basket of fruit. Large bouquets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums throughout the house lent to the autumn coloring. The guests were pleasantly surprised when Mrs. Kuhn served venison, which her husband had brought home from a recent hunting trip.

Mrs. M. O. Wells, leader of the Bible Literature Study section, presented the business items at the opening of the afternoon session. Future monthly meetings will be on the third Monday, each to be preceded by a covered-dish luncheon.

Mrs. Wells' tentative outline of her plans for programs for the year brought out the fact that books and literature are recommended by the state chairman of Bible literature of the Federated Woman's clubs will be used.

Mrs. L. E. Tarbox, president of the Woman's Club of Santa Ana, in a short talk, stated that the Bible gives the real essentials of life, and expressed delight that so many of the clubmen had taken an interest in this particular group, which has only recently been organized. Mrs. Tarbox also gave highlights from an article by Dorothy Thompson, entitled "What the World Most Needs," appearing in a current magazine. Pertinent facts from a lecture, "The Master Mind in a Muddled World," by Dr. Karl Knopf, head of the department of religion of U. S. C., which was given recently at the county convention of Federated Women's clubs, were related by Mrs. Tarbox.

Mrs. William Whitehead gave a summary of the first three chapters of the book, "How We Came to Have Our Bible," by J. Patterson Smith. The author, an authority on ancient literature, deals with his subject very thoroughly, explaining the age and types of Biblical manuscripts, and the way in which they were written and assembled. Mrs. Whitehead will continue the review of consecutive chapters of this book at the November meeting.

Mrs. P. R. Arnold, vice president of the Woman's Club of Santa Ana, gave thoughts and quotations from Dr. Bruce Barton's book, "The Book Nobody Knows," and will likewise continue this study at the November session.

A playlet, taken from the Book of Ruth, and written by Mrs. M. O. Wells, depicting the story of Ruth and Naomi, was given at the close of the study period. Mrs. George Gould introduced the setting, time and characters. Mrs. Wells read the story preceding, and at intervals during the playlet. Taking part were Mrs. William Kuhn, Mrs. William E. Dennis, Mrs. George Paes, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, and Mrs. L. B. Talbott.

Present were the Mesdames L. E. Tarbox, M. O. Wells, L. M. Green, L. B. Talbott, C. R. Walter, Maud Harbour, S. Lena Whitehead, E. G. Warner, Mary Fairbanks, Minnie Eckel, George Paes, J. B. Irwin, L. A. Kruger, George Gould, Edith M. Bouldine, P. R. Arnold, William Kuhn, C. H. Stanley, J. D. Watkins, M. C. Williams, E. C. Wilson and J. E. Braden.

The next meeting of the Bible Literature Study section will be at the home of Mrs. E. G. Warner, 1518 Willits street, on Monday, Nov. 21.

Most Powerful Pressure Groups Pushing Schemes

(Here, in the first of two articles, is a round-up of the current old age pension agitations, the attitude of politicians, and the probable effect on the Social Security program.—The Editor)

By RUTH FINNEY

WASHINGTON. —(Special)—One issue towers in the Nov. 8 elections, and it is neither Roosevelt, war nor taxes. The issue of old age pensions is likely to elect or defeat more candidates this fall than any one other. More voters are directly interested in it; more candidates are basing their campaigns on it, and it may hold greater potentialities for the future than any other domestic matter.

The old people want bigger pensions paid to far more persons, and have come to believe they can have them; that it is simply a matter of getting the right men in office.

There are more old people than there ever were veterans, and the sons and daughters of the old people have more interest in the matter than the families of veterans ever had in the bonus.

WILL IT RUIN NATION?

And so we have the biggest pressure group this country has ever known, distributed through every state in the union, utilizing the democratic processes to get something the economists say will ruin the country.

When the old people argue that increased spending on their part will improve business, they find it easy to make converts. The country is pretty well sold on the idea that increased purchasing power is a good thing for business, even though few citizens are equipped to discuss the sources of purchasing power.

And, to top it all off, organization of old age pension groups has become big business in the United States.

COLLECTING DUES

In more than half the states, high-pressure organizations are collecting monthly dues from old people on the promise of getting them pensions.

According to a recent estimate $240 a month—$72,000 a month—is pouring into the coffers of the California Pension Plan, which is spending $30 every Thursday.

Today a partial survey of the country discloses the speed and vigor with which the pension movement has spread.

At least seven states have an old age pension measure of one sort or another on their November ballots, through use of the initiative. In most of the states reporters are predicting that the measures will carry.

STATE-BY-STATE

Here is the story, in brief: ARKANSAS: The Arkansas Social Security league has an initiative on the November ballot to insure every person over 60 an income of $50 a month. Those with no income from other sources would receive $50 in pension. Those with $20 from other sources would receive $30. The pensions go to blind persons of any age, as well as to the old folks. The money is to be raised by a retail sales tax of 2 per cent.

Members of the league pay 10¢ a month and buy 25¢ books. They sign a "solemn pledge" to pay their poll tax and not to vote for any candidate in 1938 who does not support this measure.

CALIFORNIA: The "30 every Thursday" initiative went on the ballot with several hundred thousand signatures, at a cost of $240,000. Advocates pay one cent a day to the organization.

MISSOURI: The state will vote on an initiative giving single persons over 65 from $18 to $36 a month, married persons from $25 to $50 a month.

NEBRASKA: The state will vote on legalizing slot machines, proponents promising that revenues will increase old-age pensions.

TOWNSEND CLUBS BUSY

NORTH DAKOTA: Former Governor Langer, defeated for the republican nomination for senator and running as an independent, is sponsoring a $40 a month pension initiative. In one week he got twice as many signatures as the petition needed.

NEW YORK: Townsend clubs are campaigning for their congressional candidates in upstate districts.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Both candidates for the republican gubernatorial nomination indorse the Townsend plan.

OHIO: "Thirty every Thursday" has made its appearance.

OKLAHOMA: Only court action has kept a variety of pension plans, including a $30 every Thursday and $100 a month, off all over 60 off the ballot.

OREGON: A state-wide Townsend plan is on the ballot, though opposed by Dr. Townsend. It would levy a 2 per cent transaction tax to pay a maximum of $100 a month to all over 65 regardless of need, with all pensions to be spent in Oregon within the month received. Rep. Nan Wood Honeyman is the only congressional candidate of either party who opposes it.

FAILS IN COLORADO

COLORADO: Repeal of the state's $45 pension plan is up for a vote after a year's trial. The state paid $45 for five months, then ran out of funds, even though relief cases and other public charges have been cut. Pensioners are now averaging $25 a month and suing for back pensions. Under the old $30 plan an average of $27.58 was paid in the final month. The pending measure would take $45 pensions out of the state constitution, give the whole matter back to the legislature.

FLORIDA: Senator Pepper and three out of five house members won Democratic nominations by supporting the Townsend Plan.

"Thirty every Thursday" is being promoted there; also a $100 a month measure.

IDAHO: D. Worth Clark, who

SHIRLEY, NO. 1 STAR, TO BE ON S. A. SCREEN

Shirley Temple, America's No. 1 star, in the new comedy-drama, "Just Around the Corner," comes to the screen of the Broadway theater tomorrow afternoon. Shirley is supported by a cast including Joan Davis, Charles Farwell, Amanda Duff, Bill Robinson, Bert Lehr and Cora Witherspoon.

By natural childlike mistake, a crochety old man involved in the fortunes of the girl's widowed father and his fiancee is regarded as Uncle Sam, America's emblematic figurehead. The nation's ill as she hears her father recite them, remain in the youngster's mind in a confused way. Through pity for the poor old man, she sets out to remedy matters and he, actually a millionaire, responding to her bungling but charming efforts, withdraws his objection to the romance so that all ends happily.

In this new film Shirley takes her first step toward recognition as a dramatic actress. The No. 1 star makes another hit with her singing and dancing, and with her hoydenish hoydens as the resourceful daughter of a once wealthy architect who has been flattened by the depression.

The second attraction will be "Road Demon," second of the series of sports adventures in which the Gambins, family, headed by Henry Armetta, is featured. There are thrills and laughs in the story, which concerns automobile racing. The cast includes Henry Arthur, Joan Valerie, Tom Beck, Bill Robinson and Jonathan Hale.

MASSACHUSETTS: Former Governor Curley won the democratic nomination for governor by advocating $40 every month for all over 60.

MISSISSIPPI: Rep. Ross Collins is advocating federal legislation to pay $15 a month toward pensions when the state matches it or more.

Sen. Bibbo wants to double the present federal-state old age pensions.

MISSOURI: The state will vote on an initiative giving single persons over 65 from $18 to $36 a month, married persons from $25 to $50 a month.

NEBRASKA: The state will vote on legalizing slot machines, proponents promising that revenues will increase old-age pensions.

NEW HAMPSHIRE: Both candidates for the republican gubernatorial nomination indorse the Townsend plan.

OHIO: "Thirty every Thursday" has made its appearance.

OKLAHOMA: Only court action has stopped a variety of pension plans, including a $30 every Thursday and $100 a month, off all over 60 off the ballot.

OREGON: A state-wide Townsend plan is on the ballot, though opposed by Dr. Townsend. It would levy a 2 per cent transaction tax to pay a maximum of $100 a month to all over 65 regardless of need, with all pensions to be spent in Oregon within the month received. Rep. Nan Wood Honeyman is the only congressional candidate of either party who opposes it.

WISCONSIN: "Thirty every Thursday" is being promoted.

Robert Sullivant, Youngest Symphony Member, Will Play for Breakfast Club

The musical for the Breakfast club tomorrow morning is to be furnished by the Elwood Bear violin studies, according to Carl McCandless, who is to be program chairman.

He will offer Robert Sullivant, violinist, who will be accompanied by Eloise Sullivant, accompanist. The program will consist of a "Polish Dance" by Severns; "The Bee," by Schubert; "Aragonaise," by Massenet, and "Waltz in A Minor," by Hockney.

Robert Sullivant had the distinction of being the youngest musician to ever play in the Santa Ana Symphony Orchestra. He was concert master at the Willard Jr. High school, concert master at the Lathrop Jr. High school and because of his unusual talent was permitted to play with the junior college orchestra under the direction of Allen Reville.

At the present time he is the concert master at the local high school, which he attends as a student.

Kiwanis To Open Drive

Official opening of the new half-mile section of Heliotrope drive reaching through Santa Ana's most exclusive residential district will be held tomorrow noon, it was announced today.

The Santa Ana Kiwanis club will take part in the observance by holding its weekly noon luncheon meeting on the street at 12:15 p.m.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland and members of the city council will be present for the official opening, as well as Allison Honer, Santa Ana developer who has subdivided the 20-acre tract.

The Heliotrope drive extension, it was pointed out, will serve as a connecting link between the high-class Floral park and the Broadway park residential districts.

The new subdivision is the largest in Santa Ana since the Floral park originally was developed in 1930.

Lots along the new extension will be offered for sale with all improvements—paving, sewer and water connections, walks and curbs—made by Honer. Work is under way clearing off the tract, preparatory to putting in improvements.

L. A. POLICE SHAKEN UP

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Fifty members of the Los Angeles police force began new jobs today, after a "shake-up" ordered by Chief James Eppm Davis and approved by the city's new "reform" mayor, Fletcher Bowron.

Davis, without comment, announced the wholesale transfers and disclosed he had approved an application for retirement from Lieut. Sidney Sweetnam, formerly in command of the Newton street vice detail, recently transferred to University division.

Outstanding transfers included Det. Capt. L. L. Curtis from Wiltshire division to Venice; Det. Lieut. Frank James, head of the chief's "gang-buster" detail, to Valley division at San Fernando, and Sergt. Joseph P. Filkas, veteran homicide investigator, to a uniformed post in Hollywood division.

CZECHS, POLES END DISPUTE

PRAGUE. (AP)—Czechoslovakia's frontier dispute with Poland was ended today by an exchange of notes between Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Frantisek Chvalkovsky and Casimir Papie, Polish minister to Prague.

The notes said the two governments were in agreement on their common border and that only slight rectification was necessary before a formal treaty could be signed.

Official Polish sources declared the accord excluded the possibility of a plebiscite in the Frydek district, disputed area near the regions of Teschen and Frystat which Polish troops already have occupied.

Auto Deaths Rising NOW

Snow Flurries,
Football Trips,
Early Dusk Are Dangerous

By the AP Feature Service
CHICAGO.—Motor accidents increase as the day draws to a close. And, the National Safety Council has discovered, the same rule holds for the declining year.

Beginning in July and lasting well through the rest of the year, figures on traffic accidents show, there is a general consumption fall-off. This indicates pretty conclusively to the council that seasonal hazards enter into the situation.

R. L. Forney, the council's chief statistician, and Sidney J. Williams, director of its public safety division, say the following conditions help explain the increase in accidents:

1. Since darkness falls earlier as autumn progresses, rush hour crowds begin to appear on the streets in dusk or dark instead of daylight. That makes driving more hazardous.
2. There's an imperceptible increase in city traffic. People come back to town from summer vacations; business picks up and as a result delivery wagons make more trips.
3. There are no figures available, but the researchers agree that week-end football games are an important factor in the up-surge of accidents. Thousands of football fans take to the road; they're a carefree lot and a lot of them take a drink or two.

4. Snow and icy weather have their effect. The first vision-obscuring snow flurries, the first icy spots on the pavement, take drivers unawares and lead to trouble. But when severe winter conditions prevail, reports show, drivers do proceed more carefully.

5. The researchers conclude with a list of hazards that, though minor, must be figured in the seasonal study. Car windows are kept closed in cold weather; as a result engine noise deadens warning bells and whistles to drivers. With windows closed, drivers do not always give the proper hand signals. Frosted windshields probably are one contributing cause of mishaps. Finally, closed cars that have defective exhaust systems sometimes accumulate poisonous carbon monoxide gas.

S. A. POSTAL RECEIPTS UP

Postal receipts at the Santa Ana postoffice for 1938 to date shows an increase of $22,072.51 over the first 10 months of last year, a compilation of figures revealed yesterday.

Total for the year to date is $171,027.65, as compared to $148,955.14 for the same period last year, it was announced.

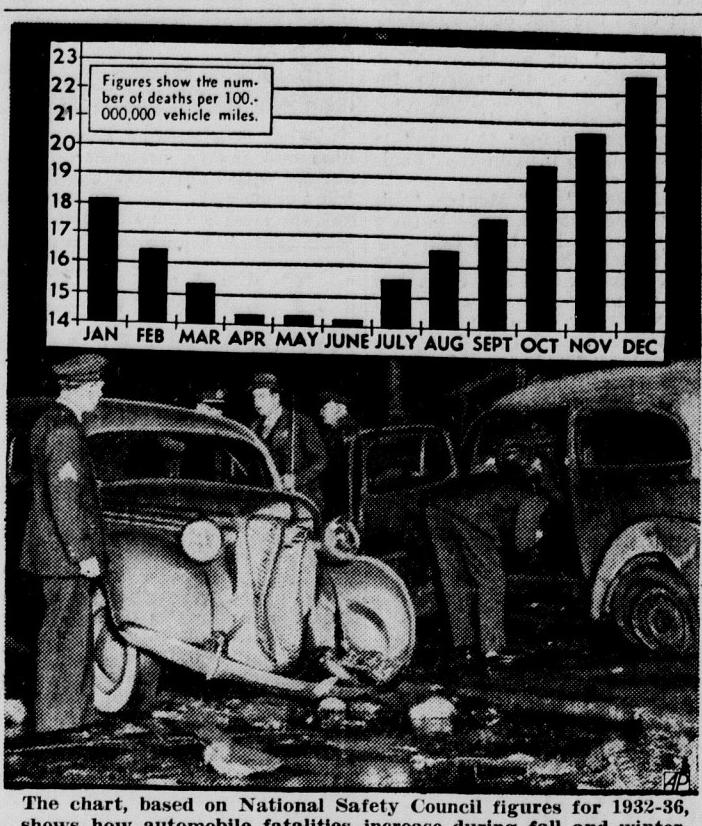

A large gain was also registered in October this year over the same month in 1937, postal officials revealed. Total receipts last month were $22,819.19, while receipts in October last year were $18,597.14.

Far West to Miss Eclipse of Moon

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—The sun and moon will play "hide and seek" in a total eclipse of the moon which will be visible Nov. 7 in every section of the United States except the far west, Dr. James Stokley, director of astronomy at the Franklin Institute said today.

The sun and moon will be seen at the same time in the eastern states although the sun actually will have set, Dr. Stokley said. He explained this would be caused by the atmosphere "acting as a prism and bending the sun's rays around the earth."

HALLOWEEN 'SPOOKS' DO BUT LITTLE DAMAGE IN ORANGE CO.

Police and sheriff's deputies looking for garbage cans and trash barrels this morning.

Biggest problem to sheriff's deputies according to reports this morning was a gang of youngsters in a Joliet camp where barricades were put up in roads and windows smashed in the schoolhouse. Several bands of prowling youngsters were dispersed in various sections of the county. Costa Mesa, scene of much trouble in former years, was relatively quiet.

"Hard cider" proved the undoing of only three persons last night, the sheriff's office reported. Two men and a woman were booked in the county jail by deputies on intoxication charges.

Dr. Townsend Writes Views On $30 Every Thursday Plan; Need for Real Pension Told

Dr. Francis E. Townsend is the founder of the great nationwide pension organization that bears his name. He has spent years in working for an adequate national pension plan. He was asked to write his views on the $30-every-Thursday proposal that will be on the Nov. 8 ballot, with the following result:

By DR. F. E. TOWNSEND

I have been asked to present for publication my views with regard to the $30 per week movement that is now claiming the attention of the California voters.

My attitude is the same now that it has been since this movement first came to my attention. I am in entire sympathy with the motives that prompted the demand for the $30-per-week pension, but I still hold that the scheme is wholly impractical and absurd. The people of this state and all other states, above the age of 50, are in dire need.

Such a group of people would then offer $30,000,000 for deposit to one institution each week. It would cost the Bank of America $600,000 each week to keep these bonds negotiable. I do not believe any banking institution would for a moment consider taking the grave risk of expending such an amount on the very faint hope that all other people to whom the warrants were presented would also stamp them regularly.

The New Deal has proven to be a bundle of straws that is disintegrating rapidly and, of course, the victims of that flood of folly are desperate. They all insist on piling onto any kind of relief raft, however unstable it may prove to be.

WRONG COURSE
So, let us not condemn nor ridicule them. They need sympathy and encouragement, but encouragement in pursuing the wrong course to obtain relief from the grave risks involved in this scheme.

It is almost as grotesque as Mr. Wallace's idea of securing "the more abundant life" through curtailment of production, than which nothing more grotesque has ever emanated from Washington under the guise of statesmanship.

WOOLSEY, FILM COMEDIAN, DIES

Guy Throws His Support to Menton

LONG ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH OF SCREEN STAR

MALIBU BEACH (AP)—The film colony and a world of fans mourned one of the screen's top spectacles, cigar chewing, wise cracking Robert Woolsey, today.

Death came to the elder member of the Wheeler and Woolsey team at his beach home here yesterday, after an illness of 18 months, which had forced his retirement from pictures. Bert Wheeler broke off a personal appearance tour at Chicago and flew here early today to attend the funeral services, which will be held Friday.

"This is a terrific loss to me," he said. "Bud was not only my partner on the stage and screen, but a great personal friend."

Woolsey, 49, when he died, was a jockey at 15. But when Pink Star, later a Kentucky Derby winner, fell with him and broke one of his legs, he turned bellboy and met actors who helped him get a start in vaudeville and stock.

He rose rapidly, playing not only in this country, but in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and the Orient. His big chance came when Florenz Ziegfeld, who had used him in the Follies, teamed him and Wheeler in "Rio Rita" in 1928.

They were brought to Hollywood to do a movie of this musical comedy, which resulted in their being starred in "The Cuckoos," "Half Shot at Sunrise," "Peach O' Reno," "Kentucky Kernels," "Hips, Hips, Hooray," "High Flyers," "So This Is Africa" and other film comedies.

Two breaks came in their careers. Once in 1932 Wheeler and Woolsey dissolved film partnership over undisclosed differences, but soon patched it up. Again a new executive took control at their studio, R. K. O., said he did not like their brand of comedy and refused to renew their contracts. But he discovered the two funnymen were the studio's chief money makers and changed his mind. It was Woolsey's kidney ailment which finally brought his retirement.

Woolsey was born in Oakland, Calif., Aug. 14, 1889, a son of nonprofessionals, and was educated in Murphysboro, Ill.

Funeral services will be held at Forest Lawn Memorial park, Glendale.

Forty applications were received this week, boosting the membership to the 50 figure, he said.

The Rev. Father J. W. Meehan of St. Anne's parish is organizer of the jaysee unit. He will assist in the induction ceremonies.

Grandparents Arrive Here To Take Injured Baby, Made Orphan by Auto-Train Crash

The accident will be conducted at Smith and Tuthill's funeral chapel this afternoon by Coroner Earl Abbey.

The accident, one of the most tragic ever recorded in Santa Ana, occurred on North Flower street at Santa Ana boulevard. The car was struck by a northbound Southern Pacific freight train and carried more than 200 feet down the track.

Authorities today were still at a loss to understand how Cravens failed to see the train. Officers were told by witnesses that the train's whistle was blown three times and that a light was shining from the engine.

When the train ground to a halt after the crash, the baby was lying in its father's lap.

Africans Oppose Nazi Annexation

NAIROBI, Kenya. (AP)—Lup Goldfield miners of 27 races held a mass meeting today to advocate keeping Tanganyika within the British empire, but Germans were forbidden to attend by local Nazis headquarters.

The meeting approved resolutions demanding that Tanganyika, former German East African colony which adjoins Kenya, remain under British mandate and pledged the dominion's resistance to cession to Germany "by every conceivable means."

SPECIAL FUND DEFENDED BY PROSECUTOR

Elmer Guy, city attorney of Brea who was nosed out of the district attorney's race in the primary election by approximately 800 votes, today had thrown his support to Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton, campaigning for reelection against George Holden of Anaheim.

Guy last night endorsed the present district attorney when he introduced Menton on KVOC.

"Having carefully and seriously considered all the issues in this campaign," Guy said, "and the qualifications of the respective candidates I have given my support to W. F. Menton, the present district attorney and a candidate to succeed himself..."

Menton, in another of his radio series, lashed out at opposition radio-speakers and tabloid newspapers which had criticized his supervision of the $5000 district attorney's special fund, whose expenditures are kept secret until the end of the fiscal year.

He said the opposition, "evidently by reason of a dearth of campaign issues" were attempting to create a "bug

56-DAY STORE STRIKE IN BAY CITY ENDED

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Ratification of a "basis of settlement" by both employers and unions early today ended San Francisco's 56-day strike against 35 leading retail stores.

Striking AFL union clerks ratified the agreement as the climax of a mass meeting by a close vote, and immediately after Milton Marks, attorney and spokesman for the stores, announced the operators had approved the terms.

Larry Vail, secretary of the union, after the vote had been tabulated, said:

"We are now prepared to go back to work, and will make every effort to cooperate with the employers and see that the agreement is enforced equitably and fairly."

"We obtained a seniority clause," Vail said in a statement, "which provides for honest enforcement of this principle, and provides for an arbitrator to make decisions if an adjustment board cannot settle grievances referred to it. . . . Notices of discharge will be in writing. . . . The agreement does not provide for the union scale. We raised the basic wage in the agreement from $18 to $20 a week. The agreement provides a 40-hour week within six days and union recognition as the collective bargaining agent."

CHANCELLOR APPOINTED

LOS ANGELES. (P)—Appointment of the Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph T. McGucken, for nine years secretary to Archbishop John J. Cantwell, as chancellor of the Los Angeles arch-diocese, was announced today by the archbishop.

Mgr. Dolan will fill the vacancy created by the death of the Very Rev. Msgr. William Stewart, who died in Ireland Sept. 28. The Rev. Timothy Manning, who recently returned to Los Angeles from Rome, will assume the post of archbishop's secretary.

local police departments, which lack such facilities for secret investigation. That, he said, was the case in La Habra, where fines paid on gambling charges totaled more than the cost of the investigation.

He lashed out again at A. B. Berry, editor of the tabloid Independent, who last week attacked the district attorney and charged he "jumped the gun" in arresting three men in the "Fools Rush In" case.

"For weeks," said Menton, "this editor has complained bitterly that no action has been taken by the district attorney. . . . Now this Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde has assumed a new role and complains just as bitterly because action has been taken. . . . I have heard no complaint from the grand jury, and I reiterate the statement I have previously made that the purpose and desire of the grand jury is that progress be made in the case from whatever source it may come. . . . that is my sole desire and purpose and whether it is accomplished by a grand jury indictment or through complaint and information is not important."

"We are now prepared to go back to work, and will make every effort to cooperate with the employers and see that the agreement is enforced equitably and fairly."

"We obtained a seniority clause," Vail said in a statement, "which provides for honest enforcement of this principle, and provides for an arbitrator to make decisions if an adjustment board cannot settle grievances referred to it. . . . Don't forget the Johnson-for-Congress rally being staged by the Republicans and Townsendites over a long period.

One week from today will be election day. Don't let anything interfere with your casting your vote as an American citizen at that time. It's a sad commentary to make because all too many of our people seem to think it unimportant whether they vote or not. If that attitude is persisted in, by too large a proportion of our citizens they will wake up some morning and discover that their franchised privilege has been taken from them. It's an immutable law of all that that which is not used is eventually incapable of being used. Let every American citizen make up his mind that he will vote. This will be the last opportunity for the Costa Mesa people to hear the candidate in their own town before election.

Tune in KVOE, the Santa Ana station, at 6:30 this evening to hear the third of a series of political speeches being given in behalf of the Townsend endorsed candidates. Also tune in at 7 o'clock when Mayor C. T. Johnson will begin a radio broadcast address.

Subject of Duvall's talk tomorrow will be "The Causes of European Unrest." He will trace the historical background of Europe, emphasizing the rise of the "have not" nations. He will show the effects of the World War and the post-war factors leading toward dissatisfaction.

L. C. Carlisle, Townsend party assembly candidate from the 7th district, can be heard over KVOE in a political address connected with his own candidacy at 6:30 tomorrow evening. He was one of the speakers in Saturday night's Santa Ana Townsend mass meeting.

The Tustin club meets at 7:30 this evening in the Townsend club building at West Main and C streets for a business meeting. Last Thursday evening the club staged a Hallowe'en party which was a grand success. Approximately 70 people were served refreshments during the evening. The Laguna Beach club No. 1 was present in a body and many from Costa Mesa and other clubs. D. L. Thomas, president, will preside over tonight's meeting.

Santa Ana club No. 8 will meet in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street at 7:30 this evening for a business meeting. J. H. Nicholson, president, will preside. Jacob C. Best, this club's vice-president, and Mrs. Best were speakers at last Saturday night's mass meeting.

The Townsendites will regret to learn that Mrs. Carrie Lewis, wife of John H. Lewis, who are residing at 844 North Birch street this city, is grievously ill again. She was taken to the hospital on the 21st of last month where it will be necessary for her to remain for some time. Mrs. Lewis has a host of Townsend friends who will join with the writer in wishing for her a speedy recovery. She has been unable to get around except in a wheel chair since coming from the hospital about a year ago. The reason was a fractured hip which never healed properly. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have been enthusiastic supporters of the Townsend cause.

It offers employment and opportunity to all wanting work.

It offers every American security and justice.

It offers a reduction in all kinds and forms of taxation.

It offers equitable taxation, according to our ability to spend.

About Folks

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Pearl and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hunter plan to attend the football game Friday night in Riverside.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tyler are at home at 426 East Third street, following a two weeks' trip to Oregon.

Mrs. Clytie Liggett of Illinois, is visiting with her cousin, Mrs. Don Buckwalder and family at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Cram, Mrs. Nellie Cram, Lucile and Marilyn Cram, came from San Bernardino for the game Friday night and stayed until Saturday at the home of the Orlyn Robertsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller returned to Santa Ana Sunday after a seven weeks' trip east. They went via the Panama Canal and returned leisurely through the New England states.

Dear Miss Hampton: I do need help so badly! Have been so busy with my family the past few years that I have not given myself much thought or time. I am 40, brown eyes and dark hair, five feet three inches and weigh 107.

I have a dark brown short coat I can make do, but what colors can I work around it? Or should my old dresses go with the old coat and get a new suit? Then black looks so smart. "RUNDOWN."

Dear "Run-down": First of all, I think black. That would be a bad color choice for you this year particularly. Black is too dressy and "cityified" in spirit for a modest woman in any California town other than San Francisco. Added to that in this season of so very much color, black would not do as much for you as anything else.

Also, instead of a suit buy a dressmaker costume—that is, one-piece wool dress with its matching jacket, since you have only one new outfit. Such an outfit has the most accommodating way of fitting in with almost every occasion. Considering your color, and the brown coat, I am going to suggest a rich copper shade with brown fur trim. Then your shoes will be brown suede of in-between type; your hat rust like the costume; your bag brown and gloves paler copper-beige.

MARY HAMPTON.

Dear Miss Hampton: Will you please write something in your column regarding correct mourning apparel? Of course, I know that our Emily Post is uncompromisingly in favor of black for a widow, but I find it very depressing. I cannot recall any women among my acquaintances, other than older women, who have worn black here in California.

MRS. D.

Dear Mrs. D.: Californians are in the vanguard of many changing modern concepts, and clothes for the mourning period have met with change here too very wisely I feel personally. Most women do not wear mourning at all. Usually they avoid conspicuous colors such as red as well as ultra-fashionable clothes and sparkling jewelry. But otherwise they continue to dress normally but with reserve. Such women feel that a real mourning is unfair to those about them—certainly impossible in the business world.

Fernie Baca Scores Over Sailor Martin at Club

WALKER AND PLACENTIA ARE BEATEN

By KENNETH ADAMS
Rapidly shaping up to the point where he will be too good for most of the amateur boxers hereabouts, flashy Fernie Baca of Santa Ana last night scored another decisive win in the arena at the Orange County Athletic club.

Baca was matched with Sailor Martin in the last half of a double main event. It was a good match, with both boys working hard all the time. Baca's superiority became apparent in the third round, when the sailor, who hails from the U. S. S. Houston, took a terrible beating, but managed to keep his feet. Baca hit him with everything but his feet.

Sammy Walker, smooth, hard-hitting Ebony club battler, was matched with Sailor Allegro, Filipino from the U. S. S. Houston in the first half of the double main. The husky sailor was hurt with a punch to the stomach in the first round, but came back to force the fighting. Walker, a clever, dangerous boy, lost the decision, but the decision was unpopular.

Tuffy Allen of March Field added another win to his string of local victories by decisioning Jack Thompson, rugged Ebony club boy. But Allen had his hands full in winning over the game negro.

Sailor Adams, from the Houston, won Referee Jock MacDonald's nod, but only after four fast frames which saw plenty of action. He met George Jenks, Ebony club battler. The negro battered the sailor's nose to a pulp, but couldn't beat the white boy.

A knockdown in the third round lost the fight for game Lupe Placentia, Santa Ana, in an action-packed match with Don Crawford, L. A. negro. It was a good match, fast and even.

Gene Penn, kid brother of Wayne Penn, the blond boxer from Long Beach, lost a close decision to Bill Duncan, Ebony club fighter.

But the fun of the evening came with the "fight" between Dewey Dale, Buena Park, and J. C. O'Calaghan, Ontario. Both are heavyweights, and the event they put on was full of laughs if nothing else. The two awkward heavies pushed and lunged, wrestled and waltzed their way through four rounds ofistic fiasco. The climax in the comedy came in the first round, when they wrestled each other so hard both fell down. A surprised and bewildered O'Calaghan won the decision. In amateur fights, you know, a decision must be given.

Willard Pickell, Laguna Beach, lost a decision to J. O. Stone, Ebony club battler, in the opener.

GLENN MORRIS TURNS GRIDDER

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Glenn Morris, who became a movie Tarzan after winning the Olympic decathlon championship, turned to professional football today as a means of earning a living.

The tall track and field ace, who once played end in the Rocky Mountain conference, has been signed by the Hollywood Stars for their game next Sunday with the Los Angeles Bulldogs.

Morris' last gridiron performance was in the movie, "Hold That Co-ed."

FLYER VS. BRANDELLI
LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Lefty Flyer, Eastside lightweight who's been making good in his home town with his fists, tonight gets a ten-round main event at Babe Brandelli, Ocean Park veteran. No big reputations are at stake, but the bout promises fast and furious action.

ODDS and ENDS

By PAUL WRIGHT

DOTS AND DASHES, ONE OR TWO GRID FLASHES

How Santa Ana's Dons will fare at San Mateo Nov. 18 will be determined, to a certain extent at least, when San Mateo comes south Friday night to play San Bernardino, the club that surprised our junior collegians, 13-0 . . . San Mateo won the northern California conference title two years in a running, but lost to Modesto 6-0 last week.

San Bernardino's showing against San Mateo, however, may not mean too much. Coach Doug Sythe of the Indians, whose goal line has been uncrossed in four conference games, will not be "shooting the works" because they still have important league games with Chaffey and Fullerton, and cannot afford to take chances of injuring their "keys" . . . Smythe probably will employ his reserves as much as possible Friday night.

LILY PATTERN...
On Nov. 30, 1938, a 25-acre structure of iron and glass was destroyed by the greatest conflagration London has seen in many a year.

The building was the original Crystal Palace, erected originally to house the Great Exhibition of 1851. This original structure had been exactly 1851 feet long, to commemorate that date. Later moved from Hyde park to Sydenham, where it burned, its length was increased to 2756 feet.

Sir Joseph got his inspiration for the unique design of the palace from the odd, six-foot broad leaves of the Victoria regia lily of South America. The back of the leaf is made up of a network of ribs, making it unusually strong for its thickness.

Strange as it seems, these lily pads are able to support a 200-pound man on the water. The plant's flower, more than a foot across, blooms only for two days, then is closed forever and withdrawn beneath the water.

Vote 'No' on No. 2

Dr. Karl F. Meyer is known as a dog lover and a person sympathetic with those who abhor the idea of needless cruelty to animals.

As director of the Hooper Foundation for Medical Research at the University of California, Dr. Meyer commands the respect of all Californians who know his great contributions to the health of the people of the west.

Looking for guidance on proposition No. 2, the so-called humane pound act, newspapers have written Dr. Meyer asking his opinion. The letter that resulted is so clear and convincing that we are printing it as an editorial:

I find it impossible to follow the logic of those well-meaning people who are behind the act. They insist that they want it passed as a humanitarian measure, yet it will actually result in adding to the existing plethora of dogs and cats which are unwanted as pets and which will go to a premature death.

The act provides that legitimate research agencies cannot avail themselves of dogs and cats which are to be killed anyway, but must bring additional hundreds or thousands into the world for that purpose. Just how this fosters humanitarianism I cannot understand.

The situation boils down to the fact that certain individuals are so emotionally constituted that it gives them pain to think of a dog which has once been a pet being operated upon, regardless of how gentle the animal is treated. They are out to save themselves rather than dogs from pain, even if it means the death of additional thousands of animals whose only fault is that they have never been pets, and even if it means the death of men, women and children from lack of knowledge on the part of science that could have been obtained were test animals readily available.

Before publicly opposing the act we made inquiries as to the possibility of obtaining dogs in other ways than are prohibited by this proposed act. The consensus was as follows:

Animals might be obtained from public pounds outside of the state, but that would inevitably lead to great expense and trouble, and to attacks by anti-vivisectionists against this practice. This has happened elsewhere.

Mass raising of dogs by medical schools is impractical because the instincts of such animals militate against the success of concentrated breeding.

Sudden public needs for large numbers of animals frequently occur and cannot be provided for in advance by a special breeding program.

Available data indicate that the per capita cost to medical colleges of raising dogs to ages suitable for experimental purposes (15 months) would be about $20 each, an amount prohibitive under the limited budgets available for research.

In order to supply even a fraction of the minimum need for dogs, existing kennel buildings and breeding quarters would have to be increased in size from eight to 12 times. We haven't enough money to make necessary additions to the hospital and classroom buildings.

Under the proposed law there is no method of operating without definite handicaps to research.

By trying to restrict to properly conducted research laboratories the acts of vivisectors so abhorrent to the proponents of the act they cannot hope to prevent the objectionable form of experimentation by inexperienced and unsupervised amateurs frequently not doctors who secure dogs and cats from sources other than the pound. Thus the laudable attempt to prevent a repetition of the type of needless experimentation which caused the introduction of a bill similar to the act in the 1933 Legislature will not succeed. Instead the trained worker who sincerely tries to make the world a safer place to live in will be handicapped.

President Hogan of the American Bar association devoted a large part of an address before the Cleveland Bar association to condemning Justice Black of the United States Supreme Court. This is the Hogan who was attorney for Teapot Dome Doheny and who boasted how he got around the judge's rulings and conveyed improper questions to the jury.

Good Utility News

The government announces that the country's leading utility companies have promised to place immediate orders for enough power-generating equipment to increase their capacity by a million kilowatts.

This, made public as a first step in the national defense power committee's program, may easily prove one of the most encouraging developments in many months. Carrying out of the program would mean that:

Vast sums of money—one estimate is a billion dollars a year for the next two years—would be spent for turbines, boilers, generators, building materials, wages. Many men would find jobs in private industry. The utility companies would start to catch up with their depression lag of expansion. The country would be better prepared for the quick speed-up of industry that will be necessary if we ever have to fight another war.

Beyond that, and perhaps even more important, we believe the announcement shows that the government is changing its attitude toward the utility business. In the past the New Deal has battled with the utilities on many fronts. Much of this fighting was necessary, in the public interest. But it went on so long and created such bitterness that some people began to believe the New Deal was trying to ruin the private utilities, not merely to reform them.

The utilities have been falling into line with government policy. And we think the government, recognizing that the country needs the utilities and needs them to be efficient and successful, is now disposed to be more friendly and more helpful.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK—Yes, and another thing about them is that you never see them doing any of the really heavy work of building up the place. You don't see them digging tunnels and subways or laying brick, or anything like that, or bringing up their children to perform such toil. They come here as green as grass, most of them without visible means of support and claiming to want work, but they are too good to soil their hands with the rough jobs.

That kind of work is out of their line. They want to be lawyers or work in offices or stores or write for the magazines and papers or do plays or go on the stage. Something soft is what they want, out of the weather, and as soon as they begin to do all right they start pushing their way into the clubs and the better neighborhoods.

WORK? OH, NO!

They consume plenty, but if you ever suggest to one of them that he ought to go out and be a farmer and produce something he will laugh at you as though you were crazy. Or if you crack that they ought to teach their kids to be farmers or laborers, instead of white collar people, it is the same. It is true that they sometimes send their kids back to the homeland to college, but that is just for clannishness again—the old fear of being assimilated by New York, the fear of becoming too eastern, although the kids have been born and brought up in New York and enjoyed its advantages and superior ease of living.

But, whether they go back to school, back to the scenes, customs, inconveniences and all that the parents were so glad to escape from when they were young, or go to eastern schools, they aren't fixing to go in for heavy toil when they get through.

Yet the parents will sit around and knock other people for avoiding manual labor and say, "How many farmers do you see among them?" and complain because these others, too, keep alive their old traditions and folkways and try to give their children the kind of education and enough stake in life to make it unnecessary for them to be laborers.

But when they go home to refresh themselves on the old traditions they like to read notices in the papers describing them as New Yorkers—and their attitude toward those who did stay back amid the old scenes and customs to work as mechanics, farmers, ditch-diggers and what-all is one of hearty condescension. They regard them as quaint, back-country people.

STILL IOWANS, ETC.

They sometimes seem just like regular New Yorkers, but every now and again some little thing occurs in conversation to betray the fact that they are still Iowans, Texans and so forth in their hearts, who never will take full citizenship in the community which has treated them too well, who will always give first loyalty to some other state and claim a right to condemn others here for similar sentiments, for an aversion like their own to back-breaking toil, for social ambitions and vanities exactly like their own, and for preparing a gentle future for their children, even as they aspire to do.

New Ape-Man Skull Found, Linked To Ancient Peking Race

(Copyright, 1938, by Science Service)

LONDON—(Special)—A newly found skullcap of Pithecanthropus, ancient ape-man of Java, is unique in showing a marked resemblance to the skulls of the Peking race found in the caves in northern China. This resemblance consists in a noticeable arching or doming of the top of the skull, which is not present in the two previously known Pithecanthropus skulls, one discovered in 1937 and the other in 1919.

The new find is described in the weekly science journal, Nature, published here by Dr. G. H. R. von Koenigswald, who works under the auspices of the Carnegie institution of Washington, and Dr. Franz Weidenreich of Peiping union medical college, leader of researchers at the Choukoutien caves where remains of Peking man are found.

The third Pithecanthropus skull, like its two predecessors, is a large fragment. It consists of the complete right parietal bone, which makes up most of the side of the skull, with part of the left parietal and a piece of the occipital bone, which forms the back of the skull.

EVEN AMONG THIEVES

Recent news dispatches told the pathetic story of a San Francisco man, 70, who lives on an $18.32 a month relief check. He possessed and would not sell a Stradivarius violin valued at $15,000. Then it was stolen and its owner appealed for its return, saying it was a family heirloom that meant more to him than life itself.

As mysteriously as it was stolen, he regained it. An anonymous voice on the telephone informed police officers where they would find it.

Sometimes there is honor even among thieves.—Sacramento Bee.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is not strong, it is not likely to stir up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent, fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion. The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 250 words. RE. WARMER WRITES

To the Editor: Since I am a subscriber to your valuable paper, may I request a small space for an important matter?

The grand jury report of San Bernardino county speaks volumes concerning the unfitness of Mayor C. T. Johnson for the office he seeks, viz, membership in the national house of representatives. Nor is this just propaganda. Grand juries do not lend themselves to such means. Recent reports from the "friendly city" indicate that prostitution has increased 42 per cent since the grand jury said.

It appears to the grand jury that there is now existing in the city of San Bernardino an extensive area devoted primarily to houses of prostitution existing and scattered throughout the business district of the said city of San Bernardino and—that the district—devoted to such immoral and illegal houses of prostitution has recently extended and grown considerably . . . that venereal diseases have spread throughout the youth of this county to an amazing and astounding degree."

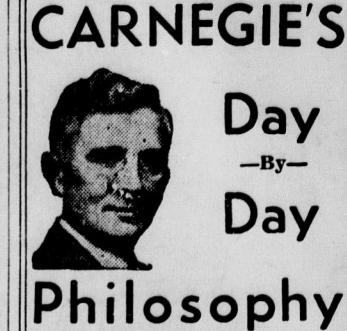

Think your worst of Harry R. Sheppard and let your imagination run riot and no such picture can be builded. Try to be fair and you will realize that he has been an achieving public servant.

Ever remember, that which is morally wrong can never be politically right or expedient. Enough said. Let your conscience be your guide. Sincerely,

GEORGE A. WARMER.

Pastor First Methodist Episcopal Church, Riverside.

CARNEGIE'S Day Day Philosophy

John D. Rockefeller, senior, lived 97 years. He once wrote a poem on worry, which he had printed on cards and gave to his friends. I quote it here:

"I was early taught to work as well as play;
My life has been one long, happy holiday—
Full of work, and full of play—
Any God was good to me every day."

Not much of a poem, but it depicts his trend of mind.

A factor of his success was his freedom from worry. He once said that as a young man he was inclined to worry, but upon discovering how it handicapped him, he determined to overcome it.

The greatest test of his philosophy came when he was 72. On every sea bound ships that bore the magic name of Standard Oil; they were anchored in almost every port in the world.

But over the tankers hung a shadow. The government of the United States! Standard Oil was a monopoly, said the government, and operated in opposition to the anti-trust laws. Suit was launched against the company. What a suit! It dragged along for five years! The most erudite and eloquent lawyers in the land argued and wrangled and fought over it! Four and one-half million words of testimony were printed and packed the records.

Then the climax! The old gentleman himself was called to the witness stand.

For five days he sat there, speaking slowly, cautiously . . . he must make a good showing. At last the trial was over; the supreme court handed down its decision: the Standard Oil company must be dissolved!

The word came fast to his lawyer, John G. Johnson, who knew how devastating the news would be—the end of a long and valiant career.

In a few moments he had Mr. Rockefeller on the telephone and told him what had happened. There was a long silence from the old man, then what sounded like a sigh.

The lawyer, hoping to cheer him up, said, "I'm sorry, Mr. Rockefeller. I hope you won't let it worry you and that you will get a good night's sleep."

Mr. Rockefeller's voice grew a little stronger.

"I'm not going to worry, and I'll get my sleep tonight, too."

This ability to free himself from worry is one of the most important reasons for his having lived to be 97 years old.

The Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen, authors of the famous book on the supreme court, "The Nine Old Men," today pay tribute to the late Justice Cardozo with this hitherto unpublished account of his later career.)

A whole month went by.

BORAH AND HOOVER
Senator Borah, member of the judiciary committee of the senate, had for many years been close to the problems of the supreme court. He decided to take up the matter personally with Hoover.

One Sunday afternoon in February, Senator Borah pleaded earnestly with the president to appoint Cardozo as a worthy successor to Holmes. Their colloquy is one of the most magnificent moments in Borah's long and distinguished public service.

"Senator," countered the president, "I agree with you that Cardozo is a good judge. But there are many other judges who are good enough and who I think would better fit into our scheme of things." He added that he had been thinking about a certain district judge.

"On what ground?"
"On the adequate ground of obsecrity; a justice of the supreme court must be somebody."

"But there are geographical considerations. There are already two justices on the court from New York, Stone and Hughes. Cardozo will make a third."

"Mr. President, a man of Cardozo's attainments is above geography. Cardozo belongs to the whole United States; he belongs to much of Idaho as he does to New York."

Hoyer, silenced but not convinced, refused to do anything more than "think it over."

A PROMISE

When arrangements were being made to receive the committee which was coming to Springfield to notify Abraham Lincoln of his nomination to the presidency, some friends offered to send some fine whisky to Lincoln's house for his distinguished guests.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Lincoln, "I thank you for your kind offer, but must respectfully decline it. I have no liquor in my house and have never been in the habit of entertaining my friends in that way. I cannot permit my friends to do for me what I will not do myself. I shall provide cold water, nothing else."
